• PETITIONING FOR THE 1958 Colonial Cruise and Summer Carnival co-chairmanships opens February 3 and will extend through 5:00 p.m. February 14.

The Cruise, scheduled for May 3 this year, is the annual all-University trip down the Potomac on the S. S. Mt. Vernon to Marshall Hall. Athletic contests, dancing contests and the selection of a king and queen of the Cruise from the children of faculty members, alumni and students attending are highlights of the all-day event.

The Summer Carnival co-chairmanship was initiated last spring by the Student Council. The person selected will aid the Activities Director of the Council in planning and setting up the Summer Carnival, scheduled for July 23.

Petitioners for the Colonial Cruise and Summer Carnival positions will be interviewed by the Council on February 19.

Homecoming and Campus Combo co-chairmanship petitioning will open February 17 and extend through 5:00 p.m. February 28. Petitioners for these offices will be interviewed by the Student Council on March 5.

Petitions for the Holiday Season co-chairmanship will be accepted from March 3 through 5:00 p.m. March 14; interviews for this position will be held March 19.

Council Changes Activities Points; Adds Job Hours

• THE STUDENT POINT System, started last year, recently was revised and brought up to date by a special committee appointed by the Student Council.

Under this system, points are designated for campus jobs, and there is a limit to the number of points that a student can accumulate.

The purpose of the Point System is to ensure that campus jobs are carried out effectively in that no student will be overburdened with so many campus positions that he doesn't have sufficient time to perform them.

Many revisions and additions were made by the committee. To begin with it added a five-point class to the classification to go along with the eight, three, two and one point divisions. The committee felt that there was too big a break between the eight and three point classes, and some three-point jobs required more work than others in that class.

Then the committee went through the entire listing of the campus positions, and, where it was necessary, raised or lowered the amount of points that was allotted for each position.

Also, the committee added new positions that weren't included in the first report. The most notable one was Mortar Board President which was put in the five-point category. Another addition was outside employment, which was given one point for every 10 hours of work. Participation on varsity athletic teams was also included.

Since many jobs had their points raised, new positions were included and outside employment was being allotted points, the committee raised the number of points that a student can carry from eight to 10.

To enforce the Point System, the committee appointed certain Student Council members who would check to see that no student is violating the system. If a student is found to be carrying more than 10 points, he must resign a campus position, or a two-thirds vote of the council members present must approve his petition.

Members of the special committee that revised the Point System were Paul Truntich, Chairman, Robert Lipman, Burt Kaplan, and Bob Shuken.

IFC Changes Rush Rules

• THE INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL recently revised its rush rules which will be put on a trial basis during the coming semester. If they prove successful, the new rules will be kept permanently.

First of all, at the first IFC meeting following the close of rush each fraternity will submit a list of the rushees to whom it would like to extend a bid. Each rushman will then receive from the IFC a list of those fraternities who are interested in pledging him.

Also, at the rotation parties, no alcoholic drinks will be served. Nor may any paid or professional entertainment appear at any rush party. The purpose of this rule is to try and reduce the expenses that fraternities incur during rush.

Registration for rush will be in the cashier's line from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, and in the Student Union lobby from 12:00-1:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the first three days of classes.

Practical Honesty

• AS FINAL EXAMS approach, dealing with the small number of students who attempt to cheat on tests becomes an imminent problem once more.

The pressure to cheat on exams usually increases during final time. Fear of failing a course is greater than the fear of being caught cheating. Fear of generally low grades strengthens the cheaters' rationale, "Everyone does it, and if I don't, my grades will be lower in comparison." And through cheating, this small minority can stain the academic integrity of the entire University.

The great disrespect and dishonor attached to cheating by the student body, faculty and administration could be influential in reducing the number of potential cheaters. The swift expulsion of any student who is proven to have cheated on an exam would also have a restraining effect upon would-be cheaters.

However, in this case, an ounce of prevention may well be worth a pound of cure. There are many practical measures which could reduce cheating nearly to the point of nonexistence. The number of proctors could be increased, particularly in large lecture courses, so that all students taking an examination are under constant surveillance. Alternate seating of students is essential for an effective proctoring system, and class rooms for tests should be large enough to make this possible. The procedure of exchanging blue books immediately before examinations are handed out, which was begun last year in many courses, greatly reduces the possibilities of crib notes.

Professors should realize that a lock and key do not necessarily make an office inviolate. The University police should be particularly watchful during exam time. The printing of examinations should not be done on machines to which students have or can gain access. Perhaps, the best solution would be to have a central machine for the printing of all exams and a central safe in which they could be kept until immediately before examination time.

Measures for preventing cheating can harm only those few students who are involved in dishonoring the integrity inherent in institutions of higher education. To the vast majority of students, and to the faculty and administration, an ounce of prevention could only be security in the knowledge that academic integrity is being safeguarded.

Revision by Council

• THE HATCHET WISHES to commend the Student Council on its revision of the Student Point Classification System. The Point System was taken out of mothballs, was revised, and will go into operation the beginning of the next school year.

The point system, which designates points for campus positions and puts a limit on the number a student may hold, is to ensure that campus jobs are effectively carried out by not having any student so busy that he can't perform the necessary work.

A point system is beneficial to have at the University, but this system, started last year, has heretofore been inoperative. There was no provision made as to who would enforce the system or what the consequences would be if a person were not abiding by it.

These faults have been corrected, and other limitations in the old report have also been cleared up by a special committee appointed by the Student Council. The HATCHET feels that the point system now will function properly and do the job that was expected of it.

University TV Program Presents Public Affairs

by Patricia Brett

• DESIGNED AS A major contribution toward understanding for the student, housewife, expert or layman, George Washington University-WRC-TV public affairs program, "The Other Two Billion" has been tabbed by many as one of the best efforts of its kind. What does the program do to merit this praise?

To start the ball rolling topics must be picked, which are both timely and significant. This is done by an advisory committee made up of professors of the School of Government. They are Professors Davidson, Haskett, Kraus, O'Brien, Schmidt and Westermann. They try to pick topics which will inform the public about subjects of which it has previously been unaware.

The next step is handled by members of the Public Relations Office: Lillian Brown and Larry Mikhon and the program's producer and moderator, NBC's Stuart Finley. Guest speakers must be chosen. One is usually a member of the G.W. faculty and the other is usually a leading expert (See TV, Page 7)

Open Letter To The Student Body

• TO THE STUDENTS: The first year of existence for the Holiday Season Committee is now completed, and we, the Holiday Season Committee Co-chairmen, feel that it has been a success. As a new program, it met with ordinary problems of a basic nature, but they were easily resolved; we found everyone most eager to help us.

We should particularly like to thank Dr. Faith and Miss Kirkbride for the advice and assistance which they gave us. Through them our problem of organizing a new program was made easier. We also feel that Mr. Rode was an invaluable help to us.

We cannot forget the others who did so much for the program: Dr. Sizoo, Dr. Harmon, Pro. Diebert and the Faculty Wives Club were all most effective. The Engineer's Council and the Student Union Dance Committee were most effective in doing their parts to make the program a success.

Then, we would like to thank the HATCHET for the wonderful publicity they gave the program. Their stories on the activities of the Holiday Season not only provided excellent publicity for the events as they took place, but they will also help, we feel, to make the program an established tradition of the University.

But we were pleased to feel that we had not only the support of the faculty and of student organizations, but also of the entire student body, when we saw dozens of students out giving their time in helping at the Orphan's Party. We cannot thank the students enough for the support they gave us; they made the party—without them there could have been none. We feel that the turnout for this party shows that the students at GWU do not lack in spirit... they are not apathetic when a good cause is at stake.

Sincerely,

• THIS WEEKEND WAS the last meal before the execution, so to speak. Hester does hope that you won't find the impending classroom investigations too grueling.

Pinnings broke out in a gay rash this month and the SAE house seems to be the focal point for the epidemic. Many SAE's took the step during the holidays. SAE Eldon Miller was pinned to Nancy Bigham, Chi Omega from Kansas University, and Craig Fix ditto to Carole Domnick of Penn State (a traveling group, aren't they?). Last but not least, Jay Martin was pinned to KKG-Gigi Winslette.

The Sigma Nu's held their most festive annual affair, the White Rose Formal, Saturday night. The dance was held at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria, and the music was provided by Mort Langstaff, Sig Nu Alum, and the Royaltones. Actives, pledges, alums and their dates gathered for liquid refreshment at a Cocktail Party at the house before the dance. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of lovely Linda Stores, Kappa Alpha Theta, as Sigma Nu Girl. Later in the evening the new officers were introduced to the guests. After the dance everyone retreated to the house for an early breakfast.

Sig Eps had a busy weekend with a Pre-Finals Hop Saturday night. Seen enjoying their last fling were: Lanny Doyle with Beverly Van Trump, ADPI, Bob Schmidt with Lee Harvey, Dave Glendening and Kathy Bowers, ADPI, and Chet Gray with Kay Hogan. On Sunday there was an Exchange with Sigma Kappa. Entertainment consisted of music, SPE punch, and, of course, the most important factor—girls!

On December 21, Acacia held its Christmas Formal at the Lafayette Hotel. The feature of the evening was the crowning of Lynne McMorris as this year's sweetheart. Tom Beechy was chosen as an outstanding alumnus.

A final before finals gave the Sigma Chi House its last few moments of pleasure before the onslaught next week. Ogg Thompson's combo set everyone in a good mood, and Sweetheart Marby Adams baked a chocolate cake—since last Saturday was one Sig's birthday. Seen celebrating were Howard Hill and Kappa Marilyn Hogenson, Mike Tarawa and "newest" DG Kathy Foreshe, and Ray Looney and Kappa Butch "Model Pledge" Russell.

Saturday night the pledge class of PIKE gave a party for the actives. A pledge skit was given with M. C. John Dunbar introducing a hilarious scene depicting PIKE A life in the Union. Pike announces the pinning of Moose Rutch and Phippi Pat Rankin and the engagement of Bob Kramer to Delta Gamma Celia Hayes.

The Deuteron pledges gave a luncheon-exchange for the pledges of Delta Gamma and Delta Zeta last week. Dora Bressler and TC Aronoff were in charge of the exchange which was held in Woodhull C. Before the Christmas holidays, the Deuteron pledges also had a luncheon for the pledges of Phi Sigma Sigma.

Don't count the pinnings—it will upset you.

Study hard and much luck.

Chuck Thompson Carries Full Load With Law School and Five Children

by Gregg Mayer

• THE DAY is over; with visions of legal cases in mind, the average law student packs his brief case and sets out, homeward-bound. There are, however, some of these students who have other things on their minds, as well. Take Chuck Thompson, for instance.

Graduating from law school in February, after having attended it for two and one half years, Charles Wayne Thompson is president of the student bar, a member of the Delta Theta

Phi legal fraternity, winner of the golf medal in intramurals, and father of five children.

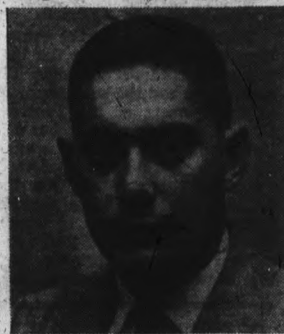

Chuck was raised in Kansas City, Kansas, where he met his wife, Grace, while in his senior year at high school. They married when he was 18 and she 17, and Chuck entered the College of Emporia, in Kansas, where he majored in political and social science. After graduation (having completed college in three years), Chuck became involved in the Korean conflict.

Here at the University he has been active in a number of organizations, one of the most important of which he now heads as president of the student bar. This organization elects its officers for terms of one year; president Thompson was veeep last year.

One of the highest accolades determined by the American Law Students Association is the award of Outstanding Student Bar Association in the nation; Chuck proudly states that the student bar at the University has won first place for two years and has been runner-up for two years.

Aside from the legal side of everything, Chuck is interested in athletics. The intramural activities here have included C. W. Thompson in more than one sport, in fact, everything except boxing and wrestling. In college, Chuck lettered in golf and baseball; he was captain of the golf team.

While he was in college, also, he found that English could be a bit of a problem... Grace Thompson helped her husband "untangle" his themes and proved to be a great boon. Now that Chuck is out of college and Grace is busy mothering five children (ranging from 7 to 1 years old), the Thompsons are just content to stay home, catch a quick breath and read. There is, however, no problem of having no place to go. Chuck finds the people at the University very congenial, and, in general, he is pleased with Washington. Although he did not attend the undergraduate school he has become a member of ODK; the Law Review, too, has printed two of his articles.

Right now it's the situation of "daddy going to school," as his eldest daughter Ellen chooses to put it. By the end of the year, however, "daddy" will be finished (to be said with crossed fingers), and is planning on returning to Kansas City where he has found a job in tax and corporation law. Meanwhile, Chuck Thompson remains in the news with his many honors and activities.

Students Answer Alexander Letter

by Stephanie Sills

• DO YOU CONSIDER yourself and fellow students members of the "Indifferent Generation" Rod Alexander wrote about?

Georgine Winslett: "A great majority of students are showing the symptom of it. One reason I think they tend towards indifference is to escape being caught up in the pressures of modern life. On the other hand often when I sit down and talk seriously with my friends I find them very aware of world situations and their effect on our lives. They have definite ideas and opinions as to the current theories involved. I don't consider myself indifferent, but then having lived in and coped with situations abroad, I am more interested in them."

John W. Henderson, Jr.: "I accept Mr. Alexander's designation as a vegetable in defense of a way I don't follow, but admire somewhat. Time is precious, perhaps. The indifference of our generation, the vegetation of our generation creates that pleasant nirvana wherein time crawls. Why race the clock to eventual doom as the "Lost Generation" did? Make time crawl, make it wallow through inaction and creep through boredom. Then we can savour every tick and tock of the golden clock. Where was Mr. Alexander when Brownley's started offering Lasagna at $1.00? Leave us room for material values, Mr. Alexander. They're needed in a free enterprise."

Charlotte Brem: "I disagree with him. I think we are becoming more intellectual. At G. W. I find more stress on study and intellectual stimuli than on rah, rah—although there is spirit."

Stephan Sellers: "I suggest that G. W.'s students are not indifferent to the world of politics and money-making—but rather to the pursuit of knowledge for knowledge's sake."

John Lilly: "I see something of myself in the article, but do not feel indifferent in any sense of the word. My only lack being that I restrain this awareness to myself—in other words I don't do anything about it."

Jeanne Barnes: "We are almost without exception indifferent. However, I wish to take issue with the author when he cited such events as student passiveness during the Hungarian Revolt as indicative of general lethargy. It is an immature illustration of what he is trying to say. In defense of Brownley's, myself and my friends revelry in said location has always been somewhat inevitable (do you think she knew what she was saying?) and spontaneous rather than forced."

Bill Player: "Both my fraternity brothers and myself were very impressed by the article. I personally feel he's right. This article has aroused more excitement than last year's backing of political candidates by the HATCHET."

Most students seem to be on Mr. Alexander's side, but from what this reporter heard, few if any students are really more concerned with the situation now than they were before reading the article. As for the future, the crystal ball shows a large group of happy high-tax-paying citizens of safe and sane upper suburbia U.S.A.

joint hosts at a private showing of the exhibition on January 4.

Mr. Berryman is a native of Washington, D. C., and attended the University and also the Corcoran Art School. After working for one year as a reporter for The New Mexico State Tribune, he returned to Washington to become a staff artist for The Evening Star. Later he became editorial illustrator, sports cartoonist and since 1941, has been political cartoonist of the same paper.

A political cartoon won him the Pulitzer Prize in 1950.

Political Cartoonist
In addition to his work with The Evening Star, he has been a sports cartoonist and political cartoonist for the Sporting News, political cartoonist for King Features syndicate, a teacher at Southeastern University, cartoonist for the Association of American Railroads and publicity director for the National Rifle Association.

Recognition Awards
Among the awards which he has received in recognition of his work are those from the New York World's Fair, Infantile Paralysis Foundation, War Bond Committee (U. S. Treasury), American Red Cross, Washington Central High School Alumni Association, and the Freedom's (See CARTOONIST, Page 6)

Registration For Law Admissions Test Ends Feb. 1

• FEBRUARY 1 IS the deadline for registration for the law school admission test to be given on February 15, at 8:45 a.m., according to the Educational Testing Service.

Over 50 law schools require or recommend that law school applicants take and submit scores on the law school admission test. The test is given in several hundred centers throughout the United States and abroad. During 1956-57 over 12,500 candidates took the test at 470 centers.

According to the Educational Testing Service, no formal preparation is necessary since the test is of a general nature. The test score is sent free to three schools named by the student. The fee for the test is $10.00.

Scores are based on a percentile system, with the highest obtainable score being 800. The information booklet supplied to all registrants contains samples of the objective question given on the exam.

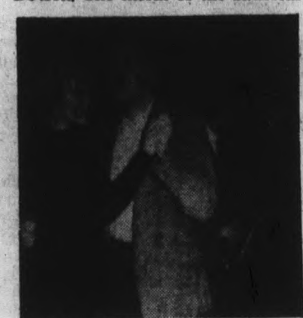

The purpose of the exam is to measure the student's capacity to read, to understand and to reason logically.

Applications should be sent to Law School Admission Test, 20 Nassau st., Princeton, New Jersey.

300 Attend Annual Pillrollers Ball Friday

• ABOUT 300 UNIVERSITY students attended the annual Pillrollers Ball last Friday night in the Student Union, according to Jan Powers, Activities Director of the Student Council.

Sam Toggas, Pharmacy School representative to the Student Council, narrated "An Incident in Priscilla Pillroller's Life," the story of a nurse who develops a pill that has amazing effects upon all males. The roles of Priscilla Pillroller and Charlie Chickenheart were played by co-authors of the skit Miss Jean Thorne and Mr. Bill Dotson. The moral of the satirical

The Pillrollers' Ball
skit was "When in doubt do not take the first pill that comes along; wait a while, there is bound to be another pill just a little better."

White-jacketed pharmacists Jim Larner, Don Morris, Ed Farley and Mr. Toggas repeated the dance's theme while the prescription blank nametags and pharmaceutical symbol murals added to the overall effect.

Sorority Hostesses
The dance was sponsored by the Student Council, Dance Production groups and the School of Pharmacy. Members of Alpha Delta Pi and Deuteron sororities acted as hostesses. Tom Miller's band supplied the music.

Committee Members
Committee members for the dance included Miss Powers, Mr. Toggas, Mr. Dotson, master of ceremonies; Pris Nicholson, decoration chairman; Meredith Eagon, publicity chairman; Jerry Osborne, and Miss Elizabeth Burtner, professor of modern dance.

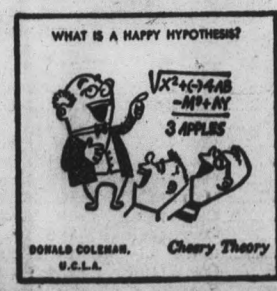

The next Student Council sponsored dance will be held Friday, February 21 in the Union from 9:00 p.m. to midnight with music by Tom Miller's band.

MELPAR NEEDS MEN TO TACKLE PROBLEMS NEVER SOLVED BEFORE

At Melpar our engineering staff is primarily concerned with the charting of courses into areas heretofore unexplored. The nature of our work ranges from the development of complete systems for radar, counter-measures, data reduction, computers, and communications to basic research and weapons systems analysis.

To encourage free, unhampered activity, Melpar has developed a unique basis of organization. Our project team system enables you to apply your engineering knowledge and talent to actual problems as soon as you join our organization, without undergoing a formal training program.

As a member of one of our project teams, composed of individuals having varied levels of experience, you will enjoy freedom and a team spirit found only in a young organization of our size. Each project group is charged with responsibility for solving problems from conception of idea through construction of prototype.

This system fosters your career, because it affords you the satisfaction of utilizing your talents and skill to the utmost. Also, it gives you the diversified experience necessary for eventual managerial responsibilities.

Our dynamic growth (we have doubled in size every 24 months for the past 11 years) constantly creates new middle and top level openings; our policy of individual recognition allows you to compete for them strictly on merit, and to receive financial compensation limited only by your ability.

You can select your fields of interest at Melpar, because our R & D activities cover virtually the entire electronic spectrum—we are presently engaged in more than 90 different projects.

Alone of all U.S. cities, Washington, D. C. and its suburbs are devoid of industrial congestion. Melpar, located on a 44 acre wooded tract in Fairfax County, Virginia, is traffic free minutes from lovely homes and apartments. The capital city with its world renowned cultural and recreational facilities is only 10 miles away. Outdoor recreation is possible 215 days of the year.

• Qualified candidates will be invited to visit the laboratory at Company expense.

• Financial assistance is extended for advanced study at any of the fine universities in our vicinity.

The Med. School (a) team crushed Sigma Alpha Epsilon (b) 70-10. Leading from the very beginning, the Med. Sch. showed no mercy and continued to pile up the baskets. Jumping to a 20-2 lead by the end of the first period, the Med. Sch. added another 16 points in the second quarter to end the half with a 36-4 lead over SAE.

Coming back in the third quarter, the Med. School added 12 points to SAE's 4 to go into the final period commanding a 48-8 lead. In the fourth period the Med. Sch. continued to pile up the baskets, and scored 22 points more before the final buzzer sounded.

Another Independent team, the Mighty Mites overwhelmed Kappa Sigma 63-14. The Mighty Mites played 11 men, each man playing almost half the game. High scorer for the Mites was John Wilt, a six-foot forward, who scored 16 points. Wilt was followed by Jerry Powers and Pete Wasulski, who scored 8 points apiece.

The Jersians defeated Theta Tau, 61-23. Using a fast breaking offense, the Jersians went out front in the beginning and never lost control of the game.

High scorers for the Jersians were Jack Rosania and Jack Kessock with 16 points apiece.

Control of the backboards gave the Indians control of the game and victory over Delta Tau Delta (a), 38-31. The Deltas were making about the same percentage of their shots, but the Indians controlled the game through the backboards.

Al Mason led Phi Alpha to victory over Phi Sigma Kappa, 47-36.

Other scores in intramural basketball this week were: Alpha Epsilon Pi (b) over Sigma Nu (b) 25-18, Med. Sch. (c) defeated ROTC 45-29, Wesley Club over Med. Sch. (b) 34-20, Delta Theta Phi (a) beat the Welling Frosh 35-28, Sigma Nu (a) over Pi Kappa Alpha (b) 33-25, and the Eng. Sch. forfeited to Pi Kappa Alpha (a).

Ken Pichette led all scorers with 30 points. His one-handed jump shot accounted for nearly all of his points.

Halftime score: 43-28, G. W. The number one team in the nation, West Virginia, walloped G.W. 93-66, to take their 12th straight game of the season.

The only satisfaction the Colonials could claim was a tight first half and producing the game's top three scorers. G.W. stayed in the game in the first half, but was routed in the last 20 minutes of play.

Guarilla and Telasky scored 18 points for top honors, while McDonald netted 17 points. Tops for the Mountaineers was Joedy Gardner with 16 points.

Jerry West

When Hot Rod Hundley was graduated from West Virginia last year, the experts said that the Mountaineers could never replace him. But many people around the Morgantown campus are saying that Jerry West, 6-4 sophomore is even better than the Rod. West leads West Virginia in scoring and is second to Shearer in rebounding. . . .

It may be a long time before the Colonials pass the century mark in scoring in a single game, but it was old stuff to the teams of the Holup-Devlin-Karver era. From 1952-56 G.W. went over 100 points 13 times. . . .

If this year's team doesn't do anything else, it accomplished the impossible when it had one of its games called off because of "wet grounds." The game with Washington & Lee last month at Ulpe was called off because the ice beneath the floor melted and caused pools of water to form on the floor. . . .

Looney Gone

Coach Reinhart's diamond squad received a jolt when Ray Looney, slugging first baseman and All-Southern Conference star for three consecutive years, signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Looney's big bat was being counted upon to lead the Colonials to a third straight conference crown. . . .

Six-foot, seven-inch Bill Ingram, who is averaging around 30 points a game for the freshman five, is also a splendid mound prospect, as many major league clubs tried to sign him when he graduated from high school. Shades of Gene Conley, also a basketball-baseball star. . . .

Pro Draft

How well the biblical phrase "Many are called, but few are chosen," applies to professional football. Last year five Colonials were drafted by NFL clubs, but only one remained when the 1957 season began. You couldn't find fault with the one who did make it, however, as Dave Liddick, 255 pounder, was a regular defensive tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers after being traded by the Detroit Lions. . . .

A fine shooting performance is being turned in by guard Bucky McDonald this season. McDonald has made 50% of his field goal attempts and 80% of his free throws in chalking up a 13-point average. . . .

Poor Attendance

Attendance at Buff basketball games this year should hit an all-time low. For the nation's number one team, North Carolina, G. W. drew about 2,000; against The Citadel with an 8-4 record and 3-0 in the conference, 150; and in the battle with neighboring rival Georgetown with a 5-1 mark, 500. Maybe George Washington is becoming the school that "Rod Alexander in his Letter to the Editor is advocating. . . .

The Colonial Five already won as many games this season as they did all last year when G.W. finished with a 3-21 mark, the worst in history. . . .

Two of the greatest names in Colonial basketball history played against each other Sunday when Detroit beat Minneapolis in an NBA game. Joe Holup scored 19 points for the winning Detroit Pistons, while Corky Devlin netted 18 for the Lakers.

pert in the appropriate field. "Outside guests have come from every walk of life," remarked Larry Milon. "Some of their names are familiar to the general public and others aren't, but all of them are the top men in their fields. Our guests have ranged from Congressmen and Generals to Company Presidents and Scientists." Films must also be chosen. These are used at the beginning of each program to provide background for the following discussion.

The reasons why "The Other Two Billion" has won much acclaim are manifold. First of all the discussions are held on a seminar basis; directed so as to cover the important points, yet flexible enough to digress in directions where spontaneous interest develops. Secondly, in the two-year life span of the program no one has ever tried to roast or point the finger at a guest as has become the popular trend in TV lately. Thirdly, the program aims at presenting the whole picture and may take from six to ten weeks to accomplish this. The length is determined by the vastness of the problem. Fourthly, many of the problems and views, which appear on the program are new to the public. Often the television networks use topics first presented on "The Other Two Billion" for further coverage on other programs. All these attributes taken together have given Arthur L. Edson, Assistant Press News Feature writer a reason to say, "The Other Two Billion" is better than the network public shows I have seen. Added to this, one must remember that this program works without a budget and is dependent on the cooperation of NBC and guest speakers.

Buff Tie '56-'57 Record; Win Three Of Last Five

Poor Crowds Mar Victories

by Bob Lipman

• A REVITALIZED COLONIAL FIVE, beginning to chalk up wins on their record, have won three of their last five games and are finally giving Buff fans something to cheer about.

After a disastrous start, the Buff have beaten Wake Forest, The Citadel and Georgetown, while recently losing to St. John's and West Virginia.

The Colonials look like they have at last found the winning habit, but one disappointing factor is the absence of G.W. fans.

At The Citadel and Georgetown games less than a combined total of 650 people attended to watch the Buff emerge victorious. There were no bands, no crowd enthusiasm or any type of encouragement to inspire the players.

The Georgetown game was a natural crowd attraction. Georgetown had a 5-1 record and is an intercity rival, yet most of the 500 fans who did attend were either Hoya students or basketball fans from the area.

George Washington's next game is against William & Mary at Uline Arena on Wednesday night. The Indians beat the Colonials 71-60 in early season play. Since then the Buff have improved tremendously. A band, some cheerleaders and three or four hundred George Washington fans could give the Colonial players more of an incentive.

Bucky McDonald paced the Buff to a 72-68 victory over The Citadel at Uline Arena. Previous to game-time, the Bulldogs had compiled an 8-4 record and were 3-0 in conference play.

McDonald was popping the ball in the basket as if it were a mechanical movement. McDonald netted 25 points on nine field goals and seven foul shots.

With McDonald's aid and Gene Guarilia controlling both backboards, the Buff took the lead with seven minutes gone in the second half and were never headed.

Dick Wherry personally kept the Bulldogs in the game. Wherry scored 29 points, high scorer of the game, and was also an excellent defenseman. Wherry scored most of his points on a unique shot. He would drive from mid-court, jump when he reached the

At the end of the game, Guarilia, who scored 18 points, leaped from the bench into a tangle of Colonial players and sprawled over the court in joy.

have the talent for a winning season.

Five Colonials hit in double figures, with Guarilia leading the pack netting 25 points.

The Hoyas twice put on scoring spurts that just fell short of taking control of the game. The Colonials were ahead all the way, twice by 15 points, before settling for their two-point win.

Led by Ken Pichette, the Hoyas practically evaporated the Buff's 43-28 halftime lead. Georgetown twice pulled to within four points before Guarilia and Bill Telasky

• G.W. IS FAR from setting any records this year, but the Colonials are listed in the official NCAA magazine as holding two all-time collegiate marks. The 1955-56 team made 50% of its shots to rank as the most accurate shooting team in history, while the great Joe Holup, playing the same year, sank 64.7% of his field goal attempts to set the all-time individual record. Oh, for those days again...

Only two Colonial hoopsters, Joe Holup and Corky Devlin, have scored 1,000 points or more in their varsity career, but two members of the current squad have a good chance to join the select twosome. Guard Bill Telasky has 578 points and center Gene Guarilia, 410, and both have two seasons to play, including the current one...

Two of the finest players in the nation will perform at Uline Arena against the Buff this year. They are the fabulous Guy Rodgers of Temple and the great West Virginia center, 6-10 Lloyd Shearer. Both are hot choices for All-American selection...
